MIAMI PROJECT

Brooklyn, New York - October 23, 2015 - Building on three years of success, including 2014's record attendance of over 25,000 visitors, Miami Project's fourth edition will feature fifty-five top galleries from around the world. Miami Project consistently builds a venue for the celebration and acquisition of the best of art in the world to welcome the country's top museums and cultural institutions and an audience of important international collectors, directors, advisors, and an extensive network of art world insiders over the fair's five days. It is the incredible quality of Miami Project's exhibitors that sets the fair apart. At Miami Project, visitors are met with an impressive survey of work by Modernist masters, providing fairgoers with the unique opportunity to acquire work by truly established painters, sculptors, and photographers who have shaped major artistic movements. Important contemporary artworks shown by galleries with decades of industry experience are also presented in meaningful exhibitions, giving visitors the opportunity to truly engage with the best in modern and contemporary artwork from around the world.

Miami Project's previous three editions have consistently been named some of Miami Art Week's "most highly sought out events," as Miami Project has secured its reputation as "the most cutting-edge fair" that succeeds "without succumbing to sensationalist tendencies." Named "Best Art Fair" by the Miami New Times in 2013, "Miami Project demonstrates the richness to be found if you look past the main fair." Miami Project's new location at The Deauville Beach Resort will further cement its status as the best venue from which to acquire modern and contemporary art. Building on The Deauville's momentum as a known venue for top art fairs, Miami Project will be a true destination during December's Miami Art Week.

ART ON PAPER

Art on Paper Miami opens Tuesday, December 1, 2015 at the Deauville Beach Resort in the heart of Miami Beach. Building on the momentum of New York City's acclaimed Art on Paper fair, Art on Paper Miami will feature exhibitions of paper-based art presented by twenty galleries. Art on Paper's singular focus affords exhibitors the opportunity to innovate, to show a unique facet of a program, or to highlight a specific body of work in a venue dedicated to the inspiration of ideas, conversation, and patronage.

A Time Out New York Critic's Pick and one of The New York Times' must see March 2015 art fairs, Art on Paper New York welcomed over 18,000 visitors and played host to compelling, large-scale installations and critically acclaimed exhibitions over four buzzing days. The fair's fresh Miami counterpart will be a similar forum for the exploration of a medium - a space for intimate conversation between exhibitor and collector with a refreshing focus on the artwork itself. Sasha Wolf, of her eponymous Lower East Side Gallery, returns to the fair, and James Stroud, of Boston's Center Street Studio, joins Art on Paper to direct the fair's tightly curated print program, bringing several of the country's top publishers into one accessible, collector-friendly space.

THE DEAUVILLE BEACH RESORT

Miami Project and Art on Paper Miami will take full advantage of The Deauville Hotel's beach-front location. The former home of NADA's Miami art fair will now include a food and beverage program highlighting top Miami and New York City based chefs and cocktail programs. The fairs will offer visitors trend-setting food and drink in an exciting new lounge adjacent to the Deauville's popular ocean-front pool. The Deauville will also play host to several public installations, featuring innovative work by both Miami Project and Art on Paper artists. Visitors to the fairs will also be invited to visit SATELLITE, a series of on-site and off-site projects and events fostering experiential and exploratory interactions with art. SATELLITE will populate The Deauville and its parking garage along with several out-of-the-box Miami Beach properties, transforming an entire neighborhood into an experiential art destination.
